A. The Committee's work

Formation of a Scientific Committee in support of refugee children

The Scientific Committee for the support of refugee children was established by order of the Minister of Education (GG1/47070 of 18/03/2016). Its tasks' objective was:

1. To record the educational activities undertaken in Accommodation Centers, to identify activities that have already been tested in the field and decide on which can be applied during the summer period, initially as a pilot program in certain camps and then, gradually, in their entirety,
2. To undertake the organization and supervision of the activities,
3. To formulate recommendations for the education of refugee children and their integration into the educational system structures during the school year 2016-2017.

The Scientific Committee is composed of the following professors and scientific collaborators of Greek Universities:

Lina Ventoura, Chairwoman	Giannis Betsas
Alexandra Androussou, Deputy Chairwoman	Alexandra Bounia
Georgios Angelopoulos	Nikolaos Nagopoulos
Evgenia Arvaniti	Vasilios Nitsiakos
Kanella Askouni	Vasilios Pantazis
Savvas Dimitriadis	Efthimios Papataxiarchis
Maria Dikaiou	Athina Spinthouraki
Angeliki Ziaka	Anna Spyrtou
Eleni Karamalegkou	Andreas Takis
Anna Koukou	Evangelia Tressou
Pantelis Kyprianos	Konstantinos Tsitselikis
Gerasimos Makris	Petroula Tsokalidou
Georgios Mavrommatis	Eleni Chontolidou

The SC worked closely with YPPETH Secretary General, Giannis Pantis, Coordinator of the Strategic Committee for the Support of Refugee Children, deputy coordinator Nikos Belavilas, and Panagos Georgopoulos and Alexandros Astrinidis, educators detached to the YPPETH.

The work of the Committee

A. Census of educational activities: A special sub-group of the SC was formed, consisting of Savvas Dimitriadis, IT expert, and two sociologists, Nelly Askouni and Nikos Nagopoulos, who undertook the census of educational activities in Accommodation Centers. The three colleagues formed the Census Report for Refugee Accommodation Centers, coordinated and supervised the process and carried out the data processing.

B. Proposals' text: The chairwoman and the deputy-chairwoman of the SC prepared a detailed multi-page text of proposals for the education of refugee children, which, after all the comments were incorporated, was approved by all members of the SC.

C. Costing: Colleagues Giorgos Angelopoulos, Alexandra Androussou, Nelly Askouni, Nikos Belavilas and Vasilis Pantazis formed and processed an indicative costing of educational activities until the end of the summer.

D. Activities' guide for the summer: Colleagues Alexandra Androussou and Eleni Chontolidou formed a guide of creative/educational activities in order to assist in the task of educators/motivators. In the same context, Mrs. Androussou, along with students of EKPA, organized the volunteer training.

E. Meetings with Greek bodies: Meetings were held with officials of the Ministry of Migration Policy, the Ministry of Health, the Municipalities, the IEP, the KANEP, GSEE and the Museums, in which the possibilities of cooperation were discussed.

G. Meetings with international organizations: Meetings were held with representatives of the UN High Commissioner for Refugees and UNICEF. The cooperation was agreed between the ministry and the two international organizations along with the creation of a joint Working Group on Education. It was also agreed that a framework of principles is required that will define the actions of NGOs and other bodies in camps as regards to issues of education of refugee children. UNICEF has raised the issue of the legal framework for cooperation between Greece and the organization and members of the Committee participated in meetings with the aim of signing an agreement between them. It was agreed, finally, to establish a special joint working group on data gathering, consisting of the census sub-group of the Scientific Committee and the specialists of the two organizations.

Based on the above, the SC submits:

1. The survey of educational activities in Refugee Accommodation Centers
2. The Scientific Committee recommendations for the psychosocial support of refugee children and their education.

B. Survey of Refugee Children and educational activities in Refugee Accommodation Centers

Establishment of the Planning Team and Implementation of the Survey

The Committee for the Support of Refugee Children (CSRC) and the Scientific Committees for assisting its work were established following a decision by the Minister of Education, Research and Religious Affairs, Nikos Filis.

At the first meeting (11/4/2016) of the Scientific Committee (SC) for assisting the work of the CSRC, a survey was decided of the pedagogical - educational activities organized at Refugee Accommodation Centers Hospitality by various bodies. In this context, a three-member group was designated for the planning and implementation of the survey. The aim of this survey is to reflect both the number of preschool and school-age children in the Centers, as well as the overall image of the interventions, along with the vacancies, elements which are necessary for the planning and coordination of actions on the part of the Ministry of Education.

The planning and implementation team of surveying

Nelly Askouni, associate professor, National and Kapodistrian University of Athens

Savvas Dimitriadis, research associate, University of Ioannina

Nikos Nagopoulos, associate professor, University of the Aegean

Supervision at local level of the data collection process

Giorgos Angelopoulos, assistant professor, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki

Pantelis Kyprianos, professor, University of Patras

Giorgos Mavrommatis, assistant professor, Democritus University of Thrace

Giannis Betsas, assistant professor, University of W. Macedonia

Vasilis Nitsiakos, professor, University of Ioannina

Vasilis Pantazis, associate professor, University of Thessaly

Eleni Chontolidou associate professor, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki

Thanks

Many thanks are expressed by the Scientific Committee members to all Administrators, Military and Civil, of the Refugee Accommodation Centers, who willingly provided surveyors with the necessary information and facilitated their work. We also thank all mayors and representatives of municipal authorities, representatives of NGOs, collectives, solidarity support or other bodies, which provided additional information on the activities they organize. Finally, without the voluntary participation of dozens of colleagues, the implementation of this survey would not have been impossible.

1. The survey process

The collection of data is based on a questionnaire (see. Annex III) which is completed for each Center-Accommodation Structure and includes 3 question sections regarding:

A) The population:

- total number of refugees of the Center
- number of children and adolescents by age groups (0-2, 3-15, 16-18 years)

B) The pedagogical - educational activities organized in each Center, a. For children and b. For adults

The relevant questions concerning the identity and nature of the bodies involved (NGOs, collectives, universities, solidarity supporters, etc.), the status of persons implementing the activities (salaried, volunteers), the content, frequency and duration of activities and the number of children or adults involved in each action.

C) The infrastructures: information about the area available to each Structure for the implementation of educational activities, of its size and other characteristics, the suitability and potential for development / improvement.

The survey was made by approximately 50 volunteer educators, from May 11 to 26, 2016. The educators - surveyors visited the accommodation structures one or -in some cases- more times. They drew information from leaders/coordinators of each structure. In many cases, at the suggestion of the leaders/coordinators, they also addressed representatives of bodies that organize educational interventions in the structure.

After completing the questionnaires, the surveyors inserted the data into a special electronic platform which was made by S. Dimitriadis. The platform facilitates the processing of data, and also allows for its continuous updating. The survey of educational activities was planned not as one single survey, but as a continuous process. In a fluid condition such as with the Accommodation Centers, the constant renewal of information is essential. The electronic platform, on one hand is designed in a way that allows the surveying of any changes in the information in each Center at any time, and, on the other, is able to add new survey features, which are currently not included, but may take place in the future.

Once the surveyors completed the insertion of data, the survey's planning and implementation team then proceeded to check the data and carry out the processing and final presentation of detailed information on each center.

2. The centers where the survey was made

The survey of the educational activities was conducted in 40 Centers-Refugee Accommodation structures (see. Annex I), distributed by geographical region as follows:

Attica: 9
 North Aegean: 6
 Peloponnese: 1
 Epirus: 5
 Central Greece: 5
 Eastern Macedonia: 2
 Central Macedonia: 12

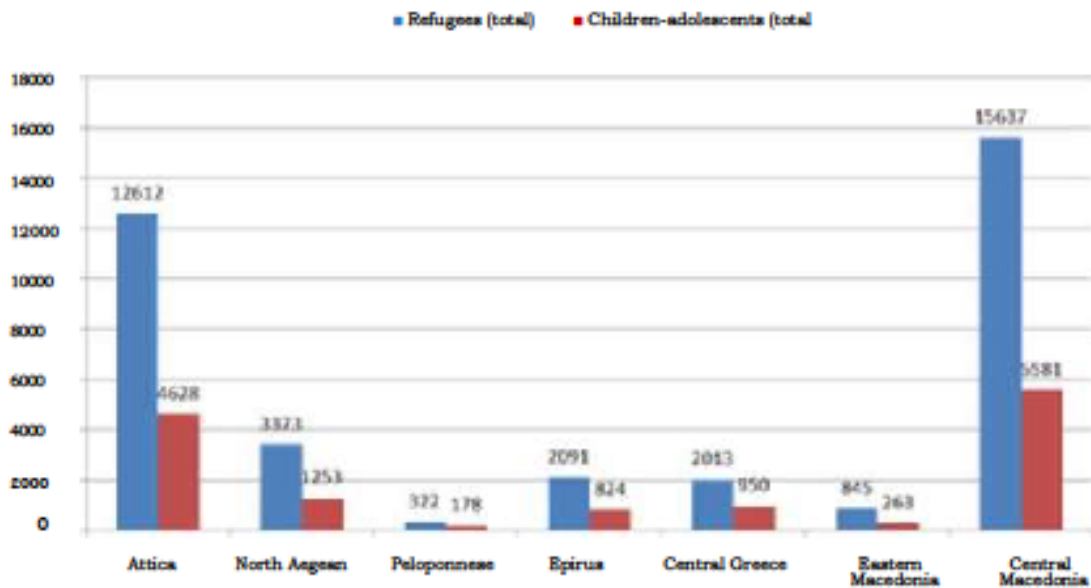

3. Population

The total number of refugees hosted in the Centers where the survey took place amounts to 36.890 individuals. The deviation from the total number of refugees (approximately 52,000 at this moment) is due to the fact that it does not include camps like Idomeni (where the unofficial camp was still operating during the survey period), Moria in Lesvos, the Port of Piraeus, the PATHE camp in Polykastro - Plaza. As shown in the table below, the total number of underage refugees (0-18 years) is about 37% of the total population.

	Refugees (total)	Children-adolescents (total)
Attica	12.612	4.628
North Aegean	3.373	1.253
Peloponnese	322	178
Epirus	2.091	824
Central Greece	2.013	950
Eastern Macedonia	845	263
Central Macedonia	15.637	5.581
Total	36.893	13.677

Regarding the distribution into age groups, we cannot have the entire picture. Although most accommodation structures have data on age distribution of child refugees, the available data does not always follow the same categorization. It is however estimated that, in the particular population of the surveyed Centers, the children aged 3-15 (ages concerning preschool and compulsory education) should be approximately 8,000-8,500.

4. Results

The Annex II includes the detailed data on the 40 Centers-Accommodation structures where the survey was carried out. For each Center, tables are presented regarding:

- The population of refugees and children
- The site and infrastructure
- The bodies involved in educational activities
- The educational activities for children (content, frequency, participation)
- The educational activities for adults (content, frequency)

Next is a summary of the main results of the survey.

4.1. Adequacy and suitability of logistical infrastructure used for educational activities at the Centers

After evaluating the adequacy and suitability of all sites that have been created to accommodate activities with children, basic deficiencies have been found, but also unsuitable conditions, which in many cases are deemed to expose participants to risk. Containers have been placed in certain Centers. There are very few Centers where education and activity rooms have been created. Many of the educational activities are carried out in the yard or outdoor areas, thus directly dependent on weather conditions.

In most Centers, the educational activities and sports games take place in tents or in tents open on their sides. The absence of organized educational areas is generally observed. A key problem is the absence of heating/air conditioning. In most cases, significant deficiencies of equipment are noted, and especially educational equipment.

A few centers have playgrounds and play areas, but it seems that supervision is not always ensured. Few (4-5) Centers have covered areas operating for educational activities. These areas, which until recently had been used for other activities, offer a better image, both in terms of hygiene and as to their equipment level. The camps that are used are stated as in good condition, as they appear to be clean, tidy and well organized.

There is also a dispersion of different "blue dots" noted in the major Centers in accordance with the delimitation of each organization. In some cases, tents are apparently erected and dismantled whenever activities are carried out.

4.2. Bodies involved in the organization of educational activities

Surveyed at the 40 Accommodation Centers were:

- 105 educational-type interventions for children and
- 48 educational-type interventions for adults.

These interventions are organized by various bodies. It is a heterogeneous assortment of 76 bodies, including NGOs - international or Greek, various collectives (associations, unions, etc.), universities, solidarity groups etc. To these bodies, 7 cases should be added of lessons organized by the refugees themselves residing in the camps. The overview of the bodies involved is as follows:

36 Associations, unions, volunteer groups

32 NGOs

5 Universities

3 Public bodies (Central Greece, OAED, Public Library)

7 refugee initiatives

Of the 32 NGOs involved, some employ salaried associates, while others consist of volunteers. Also, some are involved in more than one Accommodation Centers. They are as follows:

	NGOs¹	Salaried	Volunteers	In how many Centers
1	Save the children	✓		7
2	Red Cross	✓		6
3	SOS Children's Villages	✓		4

	NGOs ¹	Salaried	Volunteers	In how many Centers
31	Portuguese Refugee		✓	1
32	Street Lights		✓	1

Table 2: NGOs involved in Centers that were surveyed²

The largest number of NGOs is observed in the camps of the Aegean islands (mainly because of Lesvos). An interesting detail is the concentration observed in certain Centers. Particularly, of the 105 surveyed educational activities for children, 40 are located in 4 Centers:

Center	Total refugees	Bodies
Diavata	1.804	13
Municipality of Lesvos (Kara Tepe)	2.380	11
Elaionas	1.000	9
Thessaloniki Port	350	7

Table 3: Concentration of bodies³

This concentration is not proportional to the number of refugees accommodated in each structure. There are Centers with very large populations (e.g. Cherso, Helliniko etc.) where very little to no intervention is observed.

In one third of the cases (about 35%), the educational interventions of bodies are implemented by salaried associates, with volunteers in other cases. Note also that salaried associates are usually employed with larger bodies. Lastly, in order to develop multifaceted educational activities and to allow for the adequate participation of salaried staff or volunteers, partnerships between bodies that support such actions are sometimes observed.

4.3. Content of activities

Activities for children

Of the interventions organized, about two thirds of cases are for educational activities of creative engagement, games, painting or psychosocial support. In only one third of the cases (35 to 105 bodies surveyed) lessons are mentioned.

They are primarily English lessons and secondarily Greek or -more rarely- maths. In 7 cases, Arabic lessons were organized.

Also, some of the activities have as content the self-organization of children, providing lessons on personal hygiene and social protection. Also note that, in a few cases, the intervention program is co-shaped according to the desires and suggestions of refugees.

Activities for adults

In usually larger Centers, actions for adults are implemented which primarily focus on activities for empowerment, artistic creation, counseling, creation of joint discussion groups on issues regarding the Centers, learning the Greek and English language and the facilitation of adults on visiting libraries, museums, etc. Some of these initiatives are undertaken by University Departments which are based in the location of these Centers.

4.4. Activities inside/outside the structures

The pedagogical/educational activities are organized primarily within the Accommodation Centers. There are very limited cases where activities are organized outside the structures. Specifically, 11 such cases have been recorded, of which:

- 3 concern lessons in school sites
- 1 music lesson at a conservatory
- 7 visits to museums, cinema, libraries.

In some Centers intervention groups are also active in the task of training volunteers or other groups that wish to organize interventions in those structures.

4.5. Participation of refugees as teachers

In 7 cases, refugees residing at the Centers participate in the organization-implementation of educational activities, mainly English or Arabic lessons. They are not necessarily educators, but also students, scientists or individuals with a relatively high educational level.

5.1. Description of areas- Attica

Structure	Is there a special area ("Blue Dot" for children or playground or kiosk or tent or other) for activities with children? Is it deemed suitable?
Skaramangas	There is currently no "Blue dot". There a tent of the NGO "Movement on the Ground" (open on its sides) for sports games.
Elaionas	There is a playground (400sq.m.) which is a large tent with a roof and sides that can open and close. It has light. There are no electrical sockets and heating/air conditioning. There is also a rudimentary soccer field with goals and two basketball courts that could be used for sports activities.
Schisto	There is a multiple-use hall, which is a covered area of about 150sq.m. (It was the old military camp restaurant). It is cool, clean, tidy, suitable for activities, it has natural lighting and electricity, and also has benches, about 100 children. Of course it is not enough for all the children of the Center, other smaller areas may need to be created, if all children are to attend lessons simultaneously. There is a special BLUE DOT SERVICES for social benefits, health care, food, psychological support for families. Such as 2 containers of the SAVE THE CHILDREN NGO which are used for storage of their material and for activities.
Hockey Stadium Hellinikon	There is a large hall in the covered area in which all activities take place. It is around 120 sq.m., completely empty of equipment. There are 2 rectangular columns in the middle of the hall that help divide the space in two.

Structure	Is there a special area ("Blue Dot" for children or playground or kiosk or tent or other) for activities with children? Is it deemed suitable?
Arrivals Area Hellinikon
Hockey Stadium Hellinikon	In the interior of the field there are two small halls of about 70sq.m. each; one is equipped with tables and chairs for children and is already used for painting. The second is empty and not yet used.
Malakasa	Two large tents without heating and air conditioning.
Lavrio (Summer Camp of Agr. Bank)	The Accommodation Center operates within the site of the summer camps of the Ministry of Rural Development. The camp is located within a pine forest, where there are many open, safe, clean and suitable places where children play. There are also kiosks, small plazas and a basketball court. There is an open space with a kiosk and several benches deployed in the form of a classroom; also, since the beginning of May, a wooden kiosk was organized (already on site but closed) for the pastime of children as well as for Greek and English lessons (for children and adults). It is neither a very large area, nor is it small. It was a single space that has been divided with the use of a library into two halls. Each hall has a computer (old but functional) connected to the internet, tables and chairs, rudimentary materials for the children's pastime (board games). In one area they have placed rugs and foam material on the floor for the younger children's pastime. On the ceiling there are fans, and there are also air-conditioners (their functionality is unknown). (There are photos of the site)
Agios Andreas	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) A football field, five a side, with artificial turf. There is problem with its fallen enclosure on one side and the dogs in an adjacent plot on that side. 2) A basketball court. 3) Two playgrounds that can be used by about thirty individuals. 4) A shed, as a following of an enclosed space of about forty square meters (it is unknown whether the space is functional in winter) 5) A second enclosed dining room of about five hundred square meters with corresponding kitchen and refrigerators and three cooling/heating units, unknown if functional.

9.1. Description of areas - Central Greece - Thessaly

Structure	Is there a special area ("Blue Dot" for children or playground or kiosk or tent or other) for activities with children? Is it deemed suitable?
Central Greece - Thessaly - Koutsochero, Larissa	There is a large 250sq.m. tent. There is also a small tent available beside it, when fewer children are participating. The tent is located at the center of the facilities. At the front end of the Structure, there is also a small soccer field, where older children usually play soccer.
Central Greece - Thessaly - Volos (Mozas)	- There are various sites, internal and external, that may be used for actions with children and adults, e.g. a small loft of about 20sq.m; a large basement, which can be used if the weather does not allow the implementation of actions in the courtyard; part of a ground-floor within the accommodation center; the courtyard, which is in very good condition; a large tent, when not used as a dining area
Central Greece - Thessaly - Thermopyles, Fthiotida	The educational activities of both the Region and the volunteer are implemented outdoors. The corresponding self-organized actions are implemented in small spaces within the buildings. Note: It should be noted that there is a significant deficiency of logistical infrastructure in classrooms. Shortages are observed in educational equipment (such as blackboards and desks), but even items such as chairs are not enough. These shortages combined with the absence of organized teaching spaces hinder educational activities, since the teaching areas must be "set up again" every morning, as chairs and tables are also used by the community members for other activities (such as dining). Moreover, the Accommodation Center has two military tents. In particular: • A military tent of 200 square meters for lessons. • A second military tent used for the distribution of food, while the rest of the time it is used for educational activities. Note: Both tents are not suitable for educational activities when climatic conditions are not favorable. Especially during the summer months, the temperature inside them is expected to be detrimental to the implementation of lessons during the day. Additional facilities: Playground, table tennis.
Central Greece - Thessaly - Oinofyta	There is a tent used as a school. It does not however cover needs. It is essentially a large tent.
Central Greece - Thessaly - Evia-Ritsona	Yes, there are. For the prevailing basic conditions, they are elementary: 1 tent of the Red Cross (child friendly space), 2 tents by the NGO Lighthouse Relief (child friendly space), 2 tents by the NGO I YOU AM (learning center/kids library)

Central Greece Region	The educational activities began being implemented daily and on weekends from 9 to 5 pm	Salaried	An educator participates in each action.	- English, French, Geography, Greek lessons. - Music and visual art happenings, educational games, group games, fairy tales and creative activities.	In the last half of May, there were dance lessons and other activities in preparation for the festival/event on raising awareness within the local community of Lamia regarding refugees and multiculturalism. The event will be organized in cooperation with the Solidarity Initiative of Lamia, which assists in supporting refugees, without however being directly involved with educational activities.	Children from 4 to 10 or 11 years old. The total number of children participating in the actions is approximately 50. However, not all 50 children participate in the activities on a permanent basis. As there is no attendance book to offer a clear picture of their participation in these activities, the assessment of the teachers is that each child participates from one to five times per week.	Separated

Many children appear to participate in more than one action (e.g. a child participates in a class of the Region's teacher 1-2 days a week and of the Syrian teacher another 2 times in the same week). This is a dysfunctional issue for the educational activities of the center. 	Separated

Structure	Is there a special area ("Blue Dot" for children or playground or kiosk or tent or other) for activities with children? Is it deemed suitable?
Drama (VIPE)	Provided for, but not implemented; there is simply a 20X6 tent at a spot in the camp, for this purpose, provided by NGO Inetrvolver along with an awning by the UN. The site is completely unsuitable, as it is located on a hillside, full of stones and dangerous spots for children, while the tent is so hot that no one can enter it when the sun is out.
Chalkero - Nea Karvali, Kavala	It is designed in collaboration with the UNHCR but has not yet been implemented. It provides for a large tent and a container. Within the building, the construction using plasterboard has been completed for 3 rooms, for lessons and activities for 25 people each (already painted, the doors are installed and there is equipment).

11.1. Description of areas- Central Macedonia

Structure	Is there a special area ("Blue Dot" for children or playground or kiosk or tent or other) for activities with children? Is it deemed suitable?
Alexandria, Imathia	The actions and the survey of children by the NGO are carried out in their own special tent, of about 40sq.m.
Varvares Imathia - "Armatolou Kokkinou"	There are two parking areas with a roof made of sheet metal that are used for now. In the smaller one, which is sheltered by metal sheets on its sides, there is a wire door that locks with a padlock, while the municipality is planning to place protective material on the sheets and utilize the power supply for a computer connection, etc. So, as the spaces are arranged at the present stage, they are not suitable. Recently, desks and chairs were placed, collected from schools by the Education Deputy Mayor of the Municipality of Veria.
Giannitsa	There is a 150sq.m. tent
Diavata, Thessaloniki	Playground Suitable but without supervision
Iraklis Estate, Pieria	There is a building configured into a classroom There are two roofed kiosks with tables and chairs There is a playground
Thessaloniki port	No. Each organization creates its own "blue dot", designating a fixed point in the outer area that children are aware of. ARSIS brings a tent which it dismantles when ending its activities.
Nea Kavala Kilkis	In the area there is a "Blue Dot". The area is designated as unsuitable for children. There are 6 small plastic structures 5m x 8m (Refugee Housing Units). There is also a playground which was set up by the army.
Nea Chrani, Pieria
Nireas Pieria (Variko Camping)	A large camping tent functions as a school. The area is not deemed suitable.
Pieria - Petra, Olympos	The second floor of a building with six rooms is used for educational activities. The rooms are very small. In them, tables, chairs and mattresses have been placed.
Cherso, Kilkis	There is a tent of about 300sq.m. with a wooden floor used by the NGO.
Oreokastro	There is none

C. Recommendations by the Scientific Committee for the psychosocial support of refugee children and their education

Introduction

The Scientific Committee for assisting the work of the Committee of Support of Refugee Children of the Ministry of Education and Religious Affairs (SC), under the Ministerial Order of 18/03/2016, has completed and submitted its proposals.

It has studied international literature on the education of refugee children and on dealing with emergencies in education, has discussed with officials of the Ministry of Education, international organizations and Greek bodies specialized in refugee and education issues, proceeded and completed the surveying of educational activities taking place in Accommodation Centers and the analysis of generated data, and, based on this knowledge, the information gathered as well as the accumulated experience of many of its members, is submitting its proposals for the education of refugee children. The SC has developed its proposals taking into account the principles and rights established in international and national law for children.²³

The SC proposals concern actions that need to be implemented under the auspices of the Ministry of Education for the children of refugees residing in Greece. The implementation of the proposals requires a political decision by the Ministry's leadership to which they have been submitted for evaluation and approval.

Seeking funding methods

None of the SC's proposals can be implemented without funding from national or international resources. It is therefore necessary to create a group within the Ministry which will identify funding sources, formulate -under the political supervision of the Ministry- the economic agreements, organize the claim, allocation and disbursement of funds, etc. This group will need to think of additional funding methods for schools that will receive refugee students as well as the issue of increased travel costs of children to and from the Accommodation Centers for their education. To ensure funding, synergies with international organizations and NGOs are also necessary. An important issue is also the consideration of the potential sponsorships by institutions or companies for the funding of specific actions.

Cooperation and synergies

To achieve the objectives of the Ministry of Education for the education of refugee children, synergies are necessary with the Ministry of Migration Policy, the Ministry of Defense and the Ministry of Solidarity, with education officials and educators, municipalities and regions, with the Universities-Technical Educational Institutions, international organizations and other bodies. We consider especially crucial the issue regarding the conclusion of an agreement between the Ministry and UNICEF. The coordination of actions of various stakeholders is essential in all phases, from the survey of educational activities to the implementation of proposals; it is therefore necessary to define a steering committee (centrally and regionally), to establish an information dissemination mechanism, to decide the responsibilities of each body, to organize the distribution of resources, etc. We also propose the participation of a Ministry representative in the interministerial coordination.

³ Law 3386/2005, Government Gazette 212/23.08.2005, Entry, residence and social integration of third country nationals into the Greek territory

The text mentions indicative proposals for partnerships with government bodies (e.g. Universities), bodies of private law (e.g. KANEP- GSEE), Greek or international organizations (e.g. UNICEF, Greek Guiding Association), etc. These proposals are indicative, resulting either from exploratory contacts and discussions with those bodies made by members of the SC in order to prepare the task of the committees as best as possible, or from their knowledge of the task and their capabilities. There is currently no written commitment, no cooperation protocol with these diverse bodies. Furthermore, the list of bodies proposed for cooperation is not exhaustive. The sub-committees to be established for processing specific issues are called to explore and propose more collaborations.

Alternative scenarios

Due to the high fluidity characterizing the refugee population and the positioning of its accommodation centers and due to the lack of data on its demographic and other characteristics, the proposals that we submit necessarily include alternative scenarios and versions, so that, whatever the situation is on September, there will be a plan for all children, whether they live in cities (e.g. in apartments) or in camps, or are integrated into local schools, or alternative forms of education are adopted, with reception classes, afternoon classes, etc. We are forced to formulate proposals without having details either on the social and educational profile of families, the expectations and educational cultures, any upward social mobility expectations through education, or even of their age distribution. Finally, given that the funding framework of actions is still unclear (the Ministry is exploring possibilities), it is obvious that the implementation of part or all of the proposals will also depend on the ability or not to fund them. Unfortunately, there is nothing that can be considered constant and fixed, therefore it is even more necessary to concretize and prioritize goals and to seek the best possible result with a minimum of resources.

In any case, it is imperative that the Ministry is directly and systematically involved with the education of refugee children and their gradual integration into the educational system as soon as possible. Any delay could lead to explosive tensions within the camps. It is equally imperative to timely inform and raise the awareness of the educational community, and take care for the preparation of educational institutions and the Greek society in general in order to avoid adverse reactions to the participation of refugee children in the Greek educational system. It is also necessary to cooperate with the HCDCP and timely inform the educational community and parents on the vaccination of refugee children.

The proposals are initially divided according to the time frame of their implementation:

- in the first phase, actions are proposed for the summer months within the camps (creative activities while at the same time learning elements of the Greek language), as well as outside the accommodation sites (such as summer camps, entertainment, visits to museums, etc.).
- in the second phase, scenarios are presented for the operation of pre-school education areas within the camps for the gradual integration of children aged 7-13 in the Greek educational system (reception classes, afternoon classes) as well as educational activities for older adolescents. The school year 2016 -17 will be a transitional year during which the first integration steps will begin, with differentiated scenarios per camp, per region and per age group. In any case, the committee proposes reception classes or afternoon classes in schools for most children, integration of a limited number of refugee children with basic knowledge of the Greek language in the morning program and small interventions in the morning program wherever possible. (See below in detail).

For all phases (summer and new school year) Greek lessons are proposed for children and adults (inside and outside the camps, e-learning, organized by the NKUA Language Teaching Center, the AUT's Center for the Greek Language, the Greek Language and Culture of the University of Ioannina, the EAP, the KANEP-GSEE or other bodies), sports, cultural and other activities for all ages, synergies with universities etc.

Also, the proposals concerning the educational part of the actions (curriculum, teaching materials), teacher training, and the broader actions for connecting schools with the local community and the social integration of refugee families.

Two issues deserve particular attention, given the uncertainty regarding the country in which the refugees will be invited to live in the future:

1. The question of teaching the mother tongue of children.

Special care is needed for teaching the mother tongue to children which have a high possibility of returning to their home country. However, for all children, all modern linguistic and pedagogical literature emphasizes the fact that the learning of the mother tongue is a prerequisite for conquering a second or foreign language (in this case the Greek language). The teaching of the mother tongue of children is therefore desirable. However, for obvious reasons, we believe that it is extremely difficult for the Greek state to undertake the organization of lessons, supervision of content, etc. Given the varied origin of refugees, the teaching of more languages would have to be provided for (Arabic, Farsi, Kurdish, etc.) and of course finding the respective educators. Our recommendation at this point is therefore limited to providing, alongside the teaching of the Greek language, lessons of the mother tongue by teachers from the refugee community, or other native speakers of the mother tongues of children, with the necessary skills (e.g. Arab-speaking teachers established for years in Greece, students of the NKUA Language Teaching Center, etc.) and monitored preferably by an international organization, and, if this is not possible, by experienced staff from one of the Ministry's Directorates for Refugee Children Education.

2. The issue of offering lessons in other European languages e.g. English, German.

Attendance of study programs in other European languages should not be completely ruled out for any children having high possibilities of relocating soon to another European country. These programs, however, must be provided by a recognized body that will ensure the certification of their studies and the parallel teaching of Greek. Attendance of study programs at foreign schools in Greece (e.g. through scholarships) should be sought out for as many children desire it and are accepted. In any case, the teaching of other European languages to refugee children is deemed absolutely necessary, as it is for indigenous children, and there are many foreign language teachers which could be utilized in this task, as well as the experience of foreign language departments of Universities.

Provision is also required for the possible reduction or increase in the number of refugees, and hence their children, during the summer or during the school year 2016-2017.

At the end of the school year 2016-2017, when there will be a clearer picture of the future of refugees and the number of children who will stay in Greece, will have to re-evaluate the situation and plan anew the methods for the further integration of refugee children into the Greek educational system, that will correspond to the conditions that have been shaped.

The text of SC proposals follows the structure below:

- A. General objectives and principles for the integration of refugee children and their families in the Greek educational system and the Greek society
- B. Planning for summer months (June-August 2016)
- C. Scenarios for the school year 2016 -17 for ages 3-15
- D. Scenarios for adolescents 15+
- E. Sports, artistic and activities using technology for all phases and all ages
- F. Scenarios for higher education
- G. Actions for parents
- H. Training for educators and education officials

I. Certification issues

J. Administrative proposals.

A. General objectives and principles

The objective of the state is to ensure the psychosocial support and the integration of children of refugees into the Greek educational system after a preparation period, and, in any case, as soon as possible, without the burdening of schools with an excessive number of children who do not know Greek and are not suitably prepared for attending a Greek school.

The integration into the Greek educational system should be planned in a way that supports the refugee children's chances of success so that they stay in school and do not drop out early.

A transitional phase from life in the camps towards integration into the Greek educational system is necessary in order for refugee children to acquire the ability to learn Greek and fill in any gaps in their education due to the lengthy removal of many of these from their home country's schools. The Ministry's task, its structures, and the educators it employs, in this transitional phase, may be aided - to the extent that the required coordination is provided – by the informal learning processes organized by volunteer groups throughout the country.

To achieve the integration and stay of refugees children in the Greek educational system, a prerequisite is:

- a. Greek learning,
- b. the organization of intensive course programs for any children that have been out of school for a long time and have knowledge gaps, and
- c. the planning of the support of refugee children that become integrated into the Greek school.

The educators who will work with the children of refugees and the informal and formal programs that will be designed for them should take account the possible traumatic experiences of refugees and their children and any previous experience of organized learning and schools that the children have had (discrimination experiences, intermittent attendance, short or long term removal from the educational environment, other types of pedagogical methods, other expectations from teachers, education learning, etc), to meet their learning needs, to gradually introduce child-or-pupil-centric teaching methods (to which children may not be familiar), to promote respect for cultural and religious differences, to build harmonious relations within the education unit, participation, critical thought and social cohesion in general. The educators, pupils, families and local communities (Greeks and refugees) should become involved in the education of refugee children, to the extent possible .

B. Planning for summer months (June-August 2016)

Activities at Accommodation Centers

The planning of pedagogical-educational interventions for the summer period will take into account the educational activities which are already implemented at the Accommodation Centers (based on the relevant survey carried out by the Committee). The aim is for the educational interventions that will be organized to be combined with the existing ones, in order to cover the needs in the best possible way.

A sub-committee must necessarily formulate the criteria and methods of evaluation or approval of the action, mechanisms of certification, supervision and codes of conduct for bodies beyond the Ministry which implement educational activities for children of refugees inside and outside the camps (NGOs etc.). Then, the criteria etc. as well as their required approval and supervision procedures must be communicated by circulars and other ways of information distribution.

The primary concern of the state during the summer is to ensure supervised creative activities for refugee children aged 3-12 years inside and outside the accommodation centers, which respond to their psychosocial and learning needs, leading them to a sense of normality, continuity, stability and hope. Outings from the accommodation centers should be pursued (accompanied by parents when the children are young).

Particular care should be taken for adolescents aged 13 to 18 years, by organizing sporting and cultural activities, activities and games with the use of new technologies, Greek and English language lessons, etc. Outings from the accommodation centers in small groups should be pursued.

The Committee, in cooperation with the Ministry, will evaluate and prioritize the needs of the accommodation centers based on the survey of existing educational activities carried out and will propose supplementary actions in specific centers, in order to meet the needs of all children of refugees and the accommodated population.

Based on the above, the following are proposed:

Scenario 1: Creative activities

- Planning and organizing creative/educational activities for the summer (late June - early August) for children between ages 3-12 and 13-18. These activities should include literacy elements in Greek and perhaps also English. This can be done not only through typical courses but also through creative activities. These activities may include the children's outings from camps, such as visits to museums, archaeological sites, sports sites, ecological parks etc. Universities or other bodies (e.g. Municipalities) may also submit and implement proposals.

- Costing and seeking activity funding. It is obvious that if the issue of activity funding is not resolved, the existence of actions at all of the Accommodation Centers and their continuity cannot be ensured.
- It is also proposed to create mobile units (used with great success in similar programs) that can be equipped with suitable material for these activities, covering several accommodation centers, and can also transport educators - motivators. This action is recommended for remote camps, located far from cities, to which access is difficult.
- To utilize the mobile libraries of Municipalities or other bodies (e.g. a mobile library van from the Thessaloniki Municipality goes to Diavata once a week, carrying books in many languages and games).
- Selection of educators/motivators for the activities: depending on funding, positions should be announced and a profile of suitable individuals proposed for these activities.
- Identifying appropriate educational material, technical equipment, appropriate sites and means of transport.
- Training of educators who will organize these activities. The training can be based on existing experience from relevant activities conducted for several months in centers such as Elaionas, Diavata etc., so that individuals that already have experience in such activities can train the educators.

Scenario 2: Intensive Greek courses

- Planning Greek intensive courses for the summer (early June - late August) for children (can be implemented in collaboration with bodies such as KANEP-GSEE and Universities that have experience with summer programs).
- Use of new technologies and electronic games in teaching the Greek language.
- Identifying appropriate educational material, technical equipment, appropriate sites or means of transport.
- Selection of educators/motivators for the Greek courses: depending on funding, positions should be announced and a profile of suitable individuals proposed for these activities e.g. individuals who have been trained in the teaching of Greek as a second language, educators who have experience in reception classes or intercultural schools or have served in countries of the Middle East. At this point, it must be determined whether unemployed teachers will be allocated points or not, and -in general- what the selection criteria will be. To utilize the members of the Association of Teachers of Greek as a second/foreign language.
- Training educators who will teach these courses.
- Costing and seeking activity funding.

Scenario 3: Summer camps

- Some children will be able to go to summer camps, where activities and courses will be organized, accompanied by their parents (e.g. in Attica, Agios Andreas).

Some children will be able to go to summer camps without their parents but with their approval, where activities and courses will be organized.

- Clarification of the number of families-children that will be able to go to summer camps, of the stay period and mode of transport. Given the implementation difficulties and required attention, the solution of summer camps can only be tested in consultation with the Ministry of Migration Policy and if the administration of the camp considers that this is feasible and does not cause disruption and tensions.
- It is proposed to explore the possibility of cooperation with the Greek Guiding Association and the Scouts who have extensive experience in the organization of day-camps as well as a nationwide network. A preliminary discussion on this issue and the possible funding of such synergies was carried out together with UNICEF and YMCA.
- Formulation of selection criteria in the event that there are more families-children who desire to go, in relation to the provided positions.
- Costing and funding of costs for transport, accommodation, catering, education.

C. Scenarios for the school year 2016 -2017

C.1. Data on the characteristics of children population

The programming of the refugee children's education requires prior gathering, processing and updating of data with the aid of experts and specialized databases or programs. The survey Committee, in cooperation with the Ministry, the UNHCR, universities, research centers and other bodies, should undertake the coordination of this project.

More specifically, data is needed:

- a. on the number of children, their age distribution, spoken languages and their percentage distribution, as well as their previous education; on children with special needs.
- b. on their educational needs and desires in this area.
- c. a realistic assessment of the bodies responsible for the areas where refugees will stay during the school year 2016-2017 (how many will settle in cities and which ones? How many will stay at Accommodation Centers and which ones?).
- d. mapping of schools which are close to the refugee places of residence and can accept refugees, respective educators/pupils in these schools, number of foreign students already attending them and identification/cataloging of educators who are familiar with the education of foreign speaking students and who wish to work in classrooms with children from different social and cultural environments. The aid of the Municipalities may be requested for the mapping of schools.

e. a realistic assessment of the bodies responsible for the relocation possibilities of part of the refugees (percentages by ethnicity or other characteristics or due to family reunification etc.) or their stay for a long period in Greece.

C.2. Cooperation and coordination

- Cooperation with and provision of information from the Ministry of Migration Policy. Continuous information sharing is required for the accommodation structures, the specificities of each camp and its needs.
- Funding of individuals specialized in data collection/processing and the necessary research, acquisition/identification of logistics and database entry etc.
- Cooperation with UNHCR and UNICEF in the collection and analysis of this data.

C.3. Planning

- Shaping alternative scenarios for the education of all refugee children during the school year 2016-2017.
- Planning for logistically aiding schools and appointment of additional qualified staff (educators, psychologists, social workers, cultural mediators). Utilization of the experience of SCS and the Melina program.
- Creation of a special website by the Ministry which will gather all information regarding the education of refugee children (in Greek, English and in the languages spoken by refugees).
- To examine platforms: eTwinning School Education Gateway, Education of International Newly Arrived Migrant Pupils.
- To examine the possibility of providing incentives to schools which collaborate on the project of refugee children integration.
- To study the practices of other countries which integrate refugee children into their education system, e.g. Germany or Lebanon.
- Costing and funding of alternative scenarios, logistics, additional staff.

Allocation

The allocation is required of children in groups according to the age, level and type of education they will receive during the school year 2016-2017.

It is advisable, wherever possible, to enroll children into classes corresponding to their age.

Age groups

A. Those aged 0-3 years will remain under the responsibility of their parents, those aged 3-7 years will remain in sites close to their parents (in the Accommodation Centers, if parents reside in them) and will attend some form of preschool education (see below).

B. Those aged 7 to 12 years that will attend reception classes or other alternative forms of primary education according to their age, their previous education or their learning abilities.

C. Those over 12-years-old that will attend reception classes or other alternative forms of secondary education according to their age, their previous education or their learning abilities.

D. Children from 15-18 years who:

a. will attend reception classes or other alternative forms of non-compulsory secondary education (high school level) depending on their age, their previous education or learning abilities.

b. will join forms of formal or informal technical or vocational education.

E. youths over 18 years of age who wish to continue some form of education/training:

a. have completed high school (12 years of study) in their home countries and wish to study in higher education.

b. were already students in their home countries.

c. wish to join forms of formal or informal technical or vocational education.

F. children with special needs [to design policies and pilot actions from the SC members who are experts].

G. unaccompanied children and adolescents [to clarify the legal status and responsibilities of the Ministries involved in the protection of unaccompanied children by the legal advisors of the Committee K. Tsitselikis and A. Takis, to design policies and actions by SC members who know the subject].

C.4. Scenarios for education of children up to 7 years old

Children up to 7 years old are not easily removed from their parents and also need to improve the knowledge of their native language. All four scenarios that follow them therefore relate to the organization of educational actions in Accommodation Centers.

Scenario 1

The community of refugees organize informal kindergartens at the places of residence, where their native languages will be taught (if there are certified teachers in their communities). The refugees are not a group with homogeneous ethnocultural characteristics (language, religion, etc.), so the kindergartens and educators should correspond to the population of each camp. The safety of young children is a particularly important issue and so those responsible for their protection must have recognized/certified qualifications and are supervised.

Scenario 2

International organizations, under their responsibility, organize educational activities in their languages (see above on the issue of teaching the mother tongue).

Scenario 3

The Greek state organizes kindergartens where Greek-speaking kindergarten teachers will work (aided wherever possible by intermediaries or mothers), so that the children gradually also learn to communicate in Greek (for this age group there will also be certain activities in summer that will introduce them to the Greek language).

Scenario 4

Children whose parents reside in villages or cities where typical kindergartens operate have the opportunity of attending them. To organize specific activities in these kindergartens, in the mother tongue of children in cooperation with refugee communities and parents.

Steps to be taken:

- Arrangement of suitable premises.
- Identifying educational material in the native languages of refugees in electronic form or in conventional form (cooperation with other countries, UNICEF has material in at least some of the refugees languages etc.)
- Identifying educational material for learning Greek. There are already several documented experiences (Educational Priority Zones, education program for Migrants and Repatriated Immigrants, Roma, Muslim children and others).
- Training kindergarten teachers (Greek and refugees).
- Costing and funding allocation for the needs of preschool education for appropriate sites, kindergarten teachers and other language mediators etc.
- Consultation with the EAP, which has experience in the training of mediators and operates an online training platform (SONETOR). There is also an intercultural mediators register. (See. <https://www.amazon.ca/Intercultural-Mediation-Europe-Professional-Transformation/dp/1612294758>).

C.5. Scenarios for education of children aged 7- 12

At this time (May 2016), the exact number of children who will stay for a long time in Greece remains unclear, and for whom the learning of Greek and integration is essential. So we must prepare for different versions.

The overall objective of the Ministry is the gradual integration of children into school structures and not their exclusion/ghettoization within the camps. However, because this step poses many difficulties (acceptance by educators, society, etc.) and our experience from such programs has shown that their success requires the synergy of all involved, a transitional phase with differentiated interventions is proposed, in order to gradually create the conditions for the success of such a venture. 2016-2017 is proposed to be a school year during which an attempt will be made so that the larger part of the school-aged children will attend parallel classes or afternoon Greek lessons. In our opinion, only pilot actions should be tested in the morning schedule and exclusively where suitable prerequisites have been ensured (i.e. trained educators who are willing to teach integration classes in the morning program, sympathetic parent associations and local communities). It is very important not to make hasty steps in order to avoid reactions and tensions.

A limited number of young refugee children with elementary knowledge of Greek, whose parents live scattered in city apartments, will join the schools' morning program.

The Ministry of Education should ensure the smooth enrollment of all children into the Greek educational system, even those who do not have the required documents. It should be taken into account that many children do not have birth certificates, that their age is not accurately known and that the continuous movement of refugee families makes it difficult to know the exact number of refugee children in each area.

The refugee children to join Greek schools will need:

- remedial teaching in parallel classes (Greek, English language, knowledge of the history, politics, social and cultural life of the host country). Wherever possible, they will be taught their mother tongue within school units or camps.
- activities or lessons in the afternoon at the school site in collaboration with various bodies of the local community. In parallel, language support classes can be offered to refugee families and the organization of cultural or sporting events (music, theater, dance, etc.). It is recommended, wherever possible, to cooperate with Local Government. The regions and municipalities have many useful structures and services (e.g. sports facilities, transportation means, vocational training centers, youth centers etc.). The possibilities for cooperation with the Municipality of Athens have already been discussed.

Steps to be taken:

- Mapping of school units that are within reasonable distance from the camps.
- Where there are no nearby school units to which children of refugees can be distributed in small groups, to identify other available buildings, e.g. municipality sites that can host afternoon classes.

- To select schools where there are educators who have experience of such actions and have indicated a desire to integrate refugee children into classes (e.g. an educator group from central Athens schools are already informally discussing solutions for integration of children from Elaionas).
- To plan for the possibility of the children's education within camps for a while if better solutions are not found.
- To evaluate and use the experience, programs and material of reception classes and intercultural schools. The experience of reception classes and intercultural schools should be discussed with educators and education officials who have experience. Proposal for meetings with educators and officials and cooperation with the IEP.
- If deemed necessary, to design programs that support children which will join the formal primary education on September.
- If deemed necessary, to design one-year intensive courses for learning Greek, arithmetic, etc. for those children who will follow alternative forms of primary education (in Accommodation Centers?) that correspond to all primary classes.
- To evaluate the initial actions that have been made on a small scale up to now (e.g. 45 children of different nationalities from Elaionas attended courses, mainly English, for 2 months, taught by the teachers of the Hill school, in a public school, 4 afternoons a week), in order to identify difficulties and to draw conclusions from this experience for the planning. To continue recording any other small-scale actions that will consequently be developed, because their results will be very useful in the future.
- Costing and funding needs for primary education.

Special care is required:

- a) for children who are older than that corresponding to their knowledge and learning skills because of the inability to attend school at their home country
- b) for the education of girls where there are cultural barriers and
- c) children with special needs.

D. Scenarios for adolescents 12+

The access to and completion of compulsory secondary education is a powerful incentive for parents and children in order for the latter to complete the primary education and is an important component of successful integration of refugee children into the Greek society and labor market.

For children over 12 years old who will follow reception classes or other alternative forms of compulsory secondary education:

- Planning intensive one-year study programs for learning Greek, maths and other necessary skills in order to access compulsory secondary education (reception classes or alternative forms of education in Accommodation Centers and cities), for children who have completed primary education or/and some of the secondary education classes in their home country, and who will be integrated into the next school year in high school classes.

- Identifying educational material from reception classes and intercultural education programs in secondary education.
- Mapping school units and corresponding structures for reception classes and afternoon classes.
- Teacher training.
- Costing and funding needs for compulsory secondary education.

Special care is needed: a) for children who are older than that corresponding to their knowledge and learning skills because of the inability to attend school at their home country b) for the education of girls where there are cultural barriers and c) for children with special needs.

Non-compulsory secondary education - high school

The access to and completion of non-compulsory secondary education is a powerful incentive for parents and children in order for the latter to complete the compulsory secondary education and is an important component of successful integration of refugee children into the Greek society and labor market.

For children from 15-18 years who:

a. will follow reception classes or other alternative forms of non-compulsory secondary education (high school) in order to be integrated into the next school year in high school classes.

b. will join forms of formal or informal technical or vocational education:

- Designing intensive one-year courses for learning Greek, maths and other knowledge necessary for accessing high school or forms of technical or vocational, for children who have completed compulsory secondary education (or 9 years of study) in their home country for all classes/types of high school.
- Teacher training.
- Identifying educational materials.
- Searching for respective practices from other states
- Searching for solutions in evening schools which have experience with respective social and cultural groups and ages.

- OAED apprenticeship schools

- Organization of technical and vocational education courses for children aged 15-18 who do not wish to join formal forms of education.
- Cooperation with KANEP-GSEE in the area of organization of technical or vocational education.
- Organization of familiarization programs with new technologies, sports activities, etc. for children aged 15-18 who do not wish to join formal forms of education.
- Costing and funding needs for non-compulsory secondary education.

Special care is needed: a) for children who are older than that corresponding to their knowledge and learning skills because of the inability to attend school at their home country b) for the education of girls where there are cultural barriers and c) for children with special needs.

- Special care for illiterate adolescents. Possible integration into structures such as Odysseus in Thessaloniki. <http://sxoleioodysseas.weebly.com/> and exploration of cooperation possibilities.

E. Sports, artistic activities and activities using technology for all phases and all ages

Familiarization with the use of new technologies

The familiarization of children of all ages with the use of new technologies is an important incentive for joining the education system. New technologies can be used so that more children can access special educational material or for distance courses. Moreover, beyond the vitally important communication with relatives and friends and their updating with the latest news from their home countries or elsewhere, their rights etc., familiarization with the use of new technologies can facilitate the learning of the mother language of children, certification, attendance of courses in English or the completion of higher education at a distance, etc.

Organization of programs for familiarization with new technologies for all education levels and all ages.

Identifying or formulating virtual games in order to aid language learning and other subjects.

Costing and funding of the purchase of additional computers, special programs, teachers, etc.

- To explore the possibility that there is unutilized functional equipment (PCs, monitors, projectors), both in Regional Education Directorates and in Universities.
- To seek the possibility for cooperation with the UNHCR and UNICEF for the purchase of inexpensive equipment and creating similar educational projects. A typical example is the Raspberry Pi (a complete, credit-card-sized computer). UNICEF has funded such projects. See <http://www.UNICEFstories.org/2014/02/17/innovating-non-formal-education/>

<http://www.UNICEFstories.org/2014/05/08/raspberry-pi-for-learning-initiative-pi4/>

Their cooperation is also mentioned there with the Foundation for Learning Equality (<https://learningequality.org/>) with an available online (<https://www.khanacademy.org/>) and offline platform (https://learningequality.org/ka -lite /) for the presentation and understanding of concepts from various scientific fields and in various languages, including Arabic. The use of the software is free.

Sports activities

Sports activities support the development of individual and social skills, enhance social ties, teamwork and cooperation. They are important for the physical and psychosocial shaping of children.

- Seeking synergies with trainer associations, physical education departments of Universities and -mainly- community and local sports teams and associations.
- The mobilization -particularly of soccer- clubs and the coexistence of indigenous and refugee children could contribute decisively towards integration and acceptance.

Planning, organizing, costing and funding sports activities

Artistic activities [the Ministry of Education has a special committee for their planning]

Music, dancing, theater, fairy tales, poems, cinema, visual arts, help in overcoming traumas and fears, identifying children in need of special aid, support the development of individual and social skills, enhance imagination, expression of emotions and creativity, teamwork and cooperation. They are important for the physical and psychosocial shaping of children.

- Planning, organizing, costing and funding of artistic activities.

F. Scenarios for higher education

The access to and completion of higher education is a powerful incentive for parents and children in order for the latter to complete secondary education and is an important component of successful integration of children of refugees into the Greek society and labor market.

Youths over 18 years of age who wish to continue some form of education/training:

- a. who have completed high school (12 years of study) in their home countries and wish to study in higher education.
- b. who were already students in their home countries.

c. who wish to join forms of higher technical or vocational education.

Steps

- Planning intensive study programs for learning Greek from adults during the summer and during the next academic year for those wishing to attend and especially those who wish to study in higher education.
- Cooperation with the Greek Language Teaching Center of NKUA and the Greek Language Center of the AUT, the Greek Language and Culture Center of the University of Ioannina and other organizations for the planning of rapid Greek learning programs, including distance learning versions (e-learning program NKUA). Also, exploring the cooperation with the Greek Open University for designing intensive one-year courses for Greek distance learning for adults. Introduction to scientific or technical terminology.
- To ask of the AEI-TEI to consider how to facilitate the enrollment of students who lack documents.
- To request of the IKY and the AEI-TEI to provide scholarships, positions in dormitories and catering for refugee children.
- - To gather, within a special website of the Ministry, for the education of children of refugees, information about the registration process in AEI-TEI, the administrator of every higher institution, the programs/courses offered in English, scholarships made available to refugees, housing, catering possibilities etc.
- Identifying or designing distance programs of higher education in English for certain subject areas and the organized informing of young people about the available possibilities.
- Cooperation with the Ministry of Education Directorate dealing with international students that has experience with methods of enrollment in universities, diplomas' certification etc. A similar process can be followed for the children of refugees.
- To consider the possibilities of programs such as Erasmus + helping refugees through European School, VET and Adult Education, multilingualism, Erasmus + helping refugees through Higher Education, and the EU Sirius network, in order to contribute to the education of refugee children.
- To implement systematic monitoring and coordination with:
 - a) the respective actions discussed at the Council of Rectors, and
 - b) the actions promoted as common good practices at a EU level on the basis of the decisions for "Recognition of skills, access to HE and Integration of Researchers: for refugees, see proposals of the European Commission of 24/09/2015, the recommendations of the meeting of Erasmus + national delegations of 06/10/2015).
- Organization in cooperation with the Council of Europe of two two-week summer schools (each for 25-30 refugee students), with the aim of informing them about their access and integration possibilities into higher education in Europe in general and particularly in Greece, for their rights, the language teaching etc.

- To integrate refugee students in summer school programs in English which are already in operation, such as the summer school on migration of the University of the Aegean, etc., by providing scholarships for young men and women who will be able to attend. To ask of Universities to organize summer schools.
- Costing and funding of intensive Greek courses for adults and other actions.

G. Activities for refugee children's parents

Parent refugees may have formed a negative attitude towards school from previous experiences of themselves or their children, do not believe they will remain for a long time in Greece or do not understand why their children and themselves need to learn Greek. There must therefore be a dialogue with their representatives, in order to determine what they want and to attempt to convince those who will remain for a long time in Greece that it is worth enrolling their children in the Greek educational system. Parents must be convinced that the Greek education will provide useful future skills for their children, to participate in decision making regarding the education of their children and become mobilized in order to devote time and human resources for their education.

Informing: It is essential to inform refugees about the Greek educational system and the possibilities that education opens up for their children's future.

- Organizing the informing of parents on educational issues, on the structure and the claims of the Greek education system but also on issues such as child health, hygiene, shaping free time.
- The KANEP-GSEE is preparing a special brochure in languages spoken by refugees regarding the Greek educational system. This brochure could also be posted in a special website of the Ministry for refugees.
- Creation of a website by the Ministry which will gather all the information regarding the education of refugee children for all types and levels of education (in Greek, English and languages spoken by refugees).

In order to achieve the integration of children, it is necessary for parents to learn Greek and to also form cultural mediators (see above).

- Organization of intensive Greek courses for parents-adults. Special care for mothers.
- The provision of free courses to parents at the same site and at the same time as their children's lessons is a powerful incentive for the former to watch over them and familiarizes them with the experiences of their children.
- Literacy empowers parents and the refugee community and enhances their chances for independent financial support of their families. Organizing literacy courses for adults (second chance schools?). Special care for mothers.

- Integration of new mothers in accelerated Greek programs and utilizing them as mediators in the operation of kindergartens within the camps. To build on the experience of major intercultural projects developed in previous years (Roma, Muslim children, immigrants) and in which cultural mediation programs have been developed.
- Cultural content actions for families, e.g. outings to museums, archaeological sites, etc. with their children. There are already such actions taking place in Veria and Thessaloniki, and are now organized in Athens. It is useful to identify the difficulties of these actions, so that they can be better organized in all regions of the country.
- Costing and funding of actions for parents.

H. Training of educators, education officials, parents, etc.

Planning of informing, preparing and training education officials, educators, pupils, parents, local authorities and communities for the entry of refugee children into the Greek educational system, on the history of refugees and their religion, their rights, their manner of inclusion, the intercultural school etc. The chances for discrimination and racist attitudes developing are greater, if and as long as all those involved in the operation of the education system address the education of refugee children as a problem.

It is highly important that the training be addressed not only to teachers but also to education officials (councilors, administrators, education directors). It is not possible to make major interventions on the education of refugee children without synergy with the administration of education.

Such actions must now be prepared and placed into operation on September with the start of the school year.

- These trainings should also present the "good practices" and propose solutions to educators, including everything from educational material to how they will act in practice, in each region per occasion and per issue. The trainings should be focused on issues of concern and a booklet should perhaps be prepared for schools or a special website that informs educators on all relevant issues.
- The education of students of pedagogical or professorial schools is required, along with the training of teachers already serving, in the reception, understanding, teaching and support of foreign-language children and in working within classrooms with children from different social and cultural environments.
- Students and already serving teachers should be made aware of the diverse forms of discrimination, to identify cases of racist behavior at school and to know how to address them.
- To build on the experience of major intercultural education programs from the training of educators as well as that of other bodies such KANEP- GSEE, UNHCR, Welfare etc.

Steps:

- Designing the content of training actions and preparation of coexistence.
- Consultation and synergies with the Municipalities and the Ministry of Migration Policy
- Proposals to universities for inclusion in the curricula of Pedagogical Departments and of Literature or Philosophy and Pedagogical Studies of courses addressed to prospective educators and concerning refugees.
- Mobilization at a university level of postgraduate curricula that can contribute with tools, practical exercises, etc. on issues related to the education of refugee children.
- Cooperation with the UNHCR and UNICEF towards raising awareness of educators on issues relating to refugee children. The UNHCR has extensive experience and appropriate material and could cover a wide range of schools and educators.
- Planning, organization, costing and funding of special courses for students and educator training.

The educators who will teach refugee children need:

- Systematic orientation, guidance and support for dealing with the psychosocial and learning problems of refugee children, as well as the linguistic and cultural differences in the classroom
- Support for strengthening links with refugee parents and with members of the refugee community in order to better understand the educational background of the refugees.
- Knowledge about the background of the crisis and the war, but also about the history and culture of the areas from which the refugee children come from.
- Placement of refugee educators as support staff in the classroom for language support and translation needs.
- They should also be supported by other professional groups such as school psychologists, social workers etc.

Special topic: refugee educators

The identification, certification of degrees and training of educators among refugees is required. The utilization of kindergarten teachers, teacher-educators among refugees is indispensable in kindergartens, for teaching the mother tongue, etc. and for shaping cultural mediators. Besides, it will also assist in the integration process of refugees.

The merit-based recruitment, equal pay and equal treatment of kindergarten-teachers-teachers-educators among refugees is of paramount importance.

- Planning the utilization of kindergarten-teachers-teachers-educators among refugees, which body will assume their administration, organization, costing and funding of their training and employment.
- Finding solutions to the issue of certification of typical qualifications and their educational experience and training. The issue is delicate and requires attention as to whom is involved with children, especially for young ages as there are safety issues, etc.
- Refugees with language skills (in the mother tongue, Greek or English) can be trained and participate as auxiliary staff in the teaching process.

I. Certification issues

In order to integrate refugee children into the Greek educational system, it is necessary to reassure parents that the studies it offers them are internationally recognized and that their investment in the education of their children will be useful for their future. Particularly important for the integration in it of refugee children is the capability of the Greek education system to provide children with a certification of their knowledge or studies at any time, which can be used in the refugee children's countries of origin and/or in other countries.

For children over 7 years old who have attended part of the formal education in their home country but do not have the required certificates, a certification system of their education level must be organized (literacy, numeracy, etc.).

Generally, certification systems need to be developed for the integration of children who do not have the required certificates into the Greek education system at the level corresponding to their knowledge/previous education/age. Cooperation with experts and certification bodies as well as with the EU, UNICEF and other bodies.

For their entry into Greek school classes, a certification system for their knowledge of Greek is also required. Collaboration with specialists and certification bodies of the Greek language.

The integration of young people, 18 years of age, into the AEI-TEI, when not having their school-leaving certificate with them, requires a certification system for their knowledge and a certification system for their knowledge in Greek.

For students who have completed part of the higher education in their home country but do not have the required certificates, the organization of a certification system for their specialty and level of education is required.

For their distribution to the relevant study year in the Greek TEI-AEI will then require a certification system for their knowledge in Greek.

Certification issues pertain to numerous matters broadly related to the education of refugee children.

The key points - also mentioned above- are:

- a) certification of adult diplomas, e.g. of educators, for lessons in the children's languages
- b) certification of student diplomas
- c) knowledge level certification for children
- d) knowledge level certification in the Greek language
- e) technical and vocational qualification certification

- Utilization of institutions and experts dealing with certification in Greece, formulating a group of experts in order to design direct certification systems adapted to the specific needs of refugees in Greece.
- Cooperation with international organizations for the use of internationally accepted criteria.
- Organization and funding of workshops with international experts in the issue of certification of diplomas.

J. Administrative issues

Proposals for coordinated action for the education of refugee children

Given the fact that the planning for the education of refugee children involves many bodies and is a delicate issue, those involved must make a coordinated effort.

- To timely inform education officials on the policy and actions of the state in relation to the matter.
- To create a centralized structure or a Directorate within the Ministry that will deal with the education of refugee children.
- To define the tasks and responsibilities of the structure.
- Until this happens, to create a coordinating/supervisory body for the education of the refugee children at the Ministry.
- For as long as the Accommodation Centers operate, to designate a representative of the Ministry in each center, who will be accountable to the respective regional education directorate and to a special central administration structure or to a coordinating/supervisory body set up by the Ministry (with sub-groups per region) and in which members of the Scientific and Artistic Committee will participate for the support of the refugee children.
- To define criteria for appointing the Ministry representatives, their tasks, responsibilities and working conditions.

- Monitoring and supervision by the Ministry of all structures/programs relating to the education of refugee children for improvements. It is necessary to develop a system for monitoring the refugee pupils and educators, in order to ensure a successful transition and integration, from the moment of enrollment until the completion of their education.
- To the extent that we are concerned with the course of the refugee children and the effectiveness of the Ministry's actions, it is necessary to ensure the accountability of the institutions and individuals during their planning and implementation.
- It is proposed to periodically evaluate the obstacles faced by children within the school in order to attempt to address them.
- Coordination with the IEP for issues of programs, materials, teacher training, leaves of absence, etc.
- To seek solutions regarding scholarships, catering, housing in structures of the Ministry for pupils and students.
- To explore all possibilities for providing scholarships to refugee children of all ages for all types of education at home and abroad.

Epilogue

The support of refugee children and the educational actions organized up to now were based on the enormous work of hundreds of volunteers, men and women, educators, students and other citizens across Greece. The contribution of international organizations and NGOs in several cases has been significant, in others symbolic, and in some worthless, despite the generous funding of some of them.

The Scientific Committee, staffed by academics who worked voluntarily, many of whom working in the field months ahead of its establishment, did whatever possible to implement the mandate of the State: in less than 90 days it completed the task of surveying the engagement and educational activities in accommodation centers nationwide, and formulated its present operational proposition for the period from summer 2016 until the end of the school year 2016-2017.
